MOTHER TONGUE

- the language of Feng Shui -

Anyone else hankering for a break, to reset and unwind? Bring on the R&R which involves a long overdue digital detox for me!

I got my Xmas decs up - and I'm already thinking when can I take them down! Heads up if you're not in a rush the 30th is a Remove Day in the Tong Shu!

Hot on the heels of Xmas is the Gregorian calendar NY. Personally I align to the Chinese New Year -falling on Jan. 25th this year. It's gives a realistic time frame to ponder plans and desires for 2020 - minus the influence of the hectic holiday season. We're now taking bookings for annual update consultations. Be sure to book early so you can have remedies in place prior to 4th Feb. 2020. P.S - I've collaborated with a retail outlet (my lips are still sealed) for the CYN, so stay tuned for details in early Jan.

We welcome the month of the Fire Rat, offering a mini precursor into the tone of next years Metal

Rat year. Be sure to check out some insights as well details for the current solar terms pairs of the 21st and 9th, read according to your domicile. As most of Australia is battling drought and bush fires I've been thinking a lot about why water is so prosperous in Feng Shui terms - it really is a precious commodity. You might like to read a previous article I wrote on the significance of the 'water' element.

And finally; if you're still looking for Gifting ideas for the energetically attuned person in your life. Check out our gift vouchers; the gift that keeps on giving positive vibes! Ideal for an auspicious date selection, BaZi analysis, Sacred space clearing or an onsite or remote Feng Shui consultation. Oh and subscribers can apply our 16% OFF Black Friday Flash sale discount towards a voucher, ends 19th Dec. Email us direct for purchase details.

Wishing you all Sheng Qi, (good energy) Wendy x
